Createspace, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Nigel Wilson (illustrator). 202 x 124 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. The stand out entries include Beyond the Moor a poem about a maiden accosted by a bandit who remains unafraid due to having been to the beyond of the title and returned. Also of note are Children of the Black Meadow where a bereaved mother resurrects her deceased kids as blackberry bramble homunculi; cyclical damnation tale The Coal Man and the Creature and the paranoia-inducing sucker punch The Watcher From the Village . this is a collection that strongly invites a second reading. - STARBURST MAGAZINE A banquet of weirdness. - Hypnobobs . visceral dread slowly rises from its mustiness. - Mythogeography A fine piece of British Hauntology - Gareth Rees Author of Marshland Properly spooky and really well written. - Sebastian Baczkiewicz - Creator of Radio 4 s Pilgrim Tales from the Black Meadow features a blend of weird and disturbing short stories. This collection is well worth checking out for its originality and chilling tone. - Phil Syphe Author of Cash n Carrots and other capers very atmospheric black and white illustrations courtesy of Mr Nigel Wilson - Hypnobobs Lambert manages to create genuine atmosphere and spine-tingling moments. but he also injects some black humour and much appreciated wit. Steevan Glover - Author of The Frog and the Scorpion When Professor R. Mullins of the University of York went missing in 1972 on the site of the area known as Black Meadow atop of the North Yorkshire Moors, he left behind him an extensive body of work that provided a great insight into the folklore of this mysterious place. Writer Chris Lambert has been rooting through Mullins files for over ten years...
